FOREWORD

The European Union has allocated €1.46 billion over seven years to the Creative Europe Programme. With this funding, the Union intends to promote Europe’s cultural diversity and strengthen the competitiveness of the European cultural and creative sectors, with a view to promoting smart, sustainable and inclusive growth as well as supporting the values of the European Union.

European cultural networks are crucial instruments to achieving these ambitious objectives. Networks are experienced member-based structures encompassing thousands of operators and professionals. As representative bodies they are consulted by the Commission and help design the EU’s culture policy. But their actions go beyond advocacy: they facilitate the internationalisation of artists’ careers and contribute to the transfer of skills, competences and know-how among peers.

As connectors between organisations across borders, they have helped the development and success of many Creative Europe-funded projects such as cooperation projects or the newly established platforms which offer support to emerging artists. They ensure that those projects have long-lasting effects and that their results are disseminated to large audiences.

The European Commission has invested in networks: 23 networks were chosen in 2014 for a 3-year support package. In 2017, we have decided to increase our support with the financing of 28 networks – including newly-established organisations - selected through an open call for proposals, for the period 2017-2021. Together they represent more than 4,000 organisations in 69 countries, across Europe and beyond, and cover the whole creative landscape. All in all, we estimate that the Creative Europe Programme will have invested €38 million in supporting network activities between 2014 and 2021.

This publication presents the Networks supported by Creative Europe for the 2017-2021 period. It provides readers with their vision and objectives as well as the added value of their activities for the whole creative and cultural sector.

Please do not hesitate to contact the networks if you are interested in joining some of them or participating in their activities.

FOREWORD

Plácido Domingo
President
Europa Nostra

Making the Voices of Culture stronger and more impactful

The Creative Europe Programme currently supports no less than 28 key European Cultural Networks. They clearly show the variety and vibrancy of Europe's cultural operators and stakeholders. All these networks bring together and represent millions and millions of Europeans dedicated to culture in the widest sense of the word. From jazz music to festivals; from architects to graphic designers; from cultural centres to amateur artists; from cultural heritage professionals and activists to dance and theatre.

Europa Nostra, the leading European civil society network dedicated to cultural heritage - of which I am proud to be President - is honoured to figure among the networks supported by Creative Europe, especially in 2018 as we celebrate the European Year of Cultural Heritage. Together, we are the passionate and creative protagonists of an ever-growing European movement for culture. This diverse but shared culture forms part of Europe's DNA and therefore constitutes Europe's unique selling point on the global stage.

The value and strength of our European Networks lie in our ability to connect the dots through our artistic and civil society networks composed of so many dedicated professionals and volunteers. Together with our numerous members from all over Europe, we are the ambassadors, creators and caretakers of Europe's rich and diverse culture which is so deeply rooted and so strongly interconnected. We reach out to the many threads of Europe's society and thus connect citizens and their communities with EU Institutions. I believe that this is the only way in which we can build a truly inclusive, cohesive and prosperous Europe which can withstand and surpass the rising dangers of populism and nationalism.

As President of Europa Nostra and as an artist, I strongly believe in the importance of placing culture at the very heart of the European project. As you know, music has been at the centre of my life. I am extremely grateful to have been able to do what I love for so many years. I still feel as passionate about it today as I did many years ago when, as a boy, I was standing in the wings of the Zarzuela Theatre in Madrid, listening to my parents perform. But music does not stand alone. It is deeply rooted in the fertile ground of Europe's shared history and culture. Indeed, all of our culture – our music, our art, our architecture, our literature, our philosophy, our fashion, our language, our media and even our food traditions – is strongly interwoven. And through it, all Europeans are deeply connected, across time and space barriers.

I know from personal experience that nothing is a better incentive for creativity than working together with people from different cultural and ethnic backgrounds. I also know that if our diverse networks join forces to promote good practices; develop and apply new business and management models; stimulate and improve the transfer of skills, know-how and competences, we shall make the voices of culture stronger and more impactful. In times of unprecedented social and technological transformations, it is indeed essential to put our collective creative power in the service of the wider goals of the entire European project. It is therefore important that our cultural and creative industries and the cultural heritage sector are supported on a European level.

Creative Europe has made it possible for so many professionals and volunteers from the wider field of culture to connect, travel, learn and exchange with each other across Europe and beyond. This programme has made a clear difference not only to us, the cultural stakeholders, but for Europe as a whole. The value, impact and legacy of this programme should be fully recognized and duly pursued in the next generation of the EU's funding programmes, as part of the implementation of the EU's renewed Agenda for Culture.
Creative Europe

Creative Europe is the European Commission’s framework programme for supporting the culture and audio-visual sectors, both of which play a major role in the EU’s economy.

The programme was launched in 2014 with a budget of EUR 1.46 billion (9% more than its predecessors) and will continue until 2020. It is open to all EU Member States, as well as some non-EU countries.

Creative Europe is divided into two sub-programmes – Culture and MEDIA – which help actors in the cultural and creative sectors to seize opportunities in the digital age and enable them to reach their economic potential.

To this end, the Culture sub-programme supports a comprehensive set of measures that include:

- Cross-border international cooperation projects between cultural and creative organisations within the EU and beyond.
- Pan-European Networks offering a stable and long-term base for professionals to develop their international skills and strengthen their competitiveness.
- Translation and promotion of European literary works.
- Innovative Platforms for promoting emerging artists and fostering a truly European programme of cultural and artistic works.
- Creative Europe also supports the European Capitals of Culture and Prizes such as the European Heritage Label, and the European prizes for literature, architecture, rock and pop music.

European Networks are pivotal to the structure of the programme. Networks are key partners in the promotion of synergies with our Cooperation and Platform projects. With the help of these Networks, the programme aims to structure the sector at European level, promote the networking of professionals at international level, offer training and development opportunities, and provide a platform for exchange, valorisation and dissemination of projects and practices.

MUSIC
AEC
Association Européenne des Conservatoires, Académies de Musique et Musikhochschulen

WHO WE ARE
AEC is a European cultural and educational network with around 300 member institutions offering professional music training in 57 countries. Its members play a crucial role in safeguarding, developing and promoting European cultural heritage and diversity, facilitating access to cultural education, and in creating new jobs in the cultural sector.

The network works for the advancement of higher education in the performing arts with a primary focus on music and aims at enhancing the quality in higher music education by promoting participation, inclusiveness and diversity; strengthening partnerships with stakeholders and fostering the value of music and music education in society.

AEC also acts as a think tank through projects, expert meetings and the production of publications, as a hub through the organisation of five annual events and various communication channels and as an advocate for the sector. It is the leading voice for higher music education in Europe.

OUR 2017–2021 CREATIVE EUROPE PROJECTS
Through its project “Strengthening Music in Society”, AEC will focus on six strands:

1. Increasing the impact of music and of higher music education institutions in society;
2. Promoting diversity, identity and inclusiveness;
3. Further developing the entrepreneurial mind-set of musicians;
4. Further promoting internationalisation;
5. Shaping the musicians of tomorrow through innovative learning and teaching;
6. Improving teacher education in the digital age. This last strand will be fully coordinated by AEC’s partner organization the European Music School Union (EMU).

The work in each strand will be carried out by a dedicated group of experts who will conduct surveys and research (e.g. on the integration of ‘diverse cultures’ in the training of musicians in Europe and on innovative practices in learning and teaching), develop online toolkits (e.g. an advocacy toolkit for AEC members), produce publications (e.g. a handbook on how to integrate entrepreneurship in music education training) and organise workshops and events (e.g. AEC 2020 Congress on Societal Impact and Audience Engagement).

Testimonial
"AEC is constantly innovating and reflecting on the future. I believe it is a fantastic opportunity to imagine the future together at the European level, to reflect, to understand how we can learn from each other in a spirit of great respect and open-mindedness."

GENERAL INFORMATION
Field: (Higher Music) Education/Culture
Date of creation: 1953
No. and type of members: 297
AEC active members (256) are conservatories, academies or universities of music, Musikhochschule or other equivalent institutions, mostly situated in the European Higher Education Area. AEC associate members (41) are either higher music education institutions outside Europe or other types of organisations having a connection to training for the music profession.

EJN
Europe Jazz Network

WHO WE ARE
The Europe Jazz Network (EJN) was created in 1987 as a Europe-wide association of promoters specialising in creative music, contemporary jazz and improvised music. Currently the EJN includes 120 member organisations (festivals, clubs and concert venues, independent promoters, national and regional support organisations) in 35 countries.

The EJN exists to support the identity and diversity of jazz in Europe and to broaden awareness of this area of music for culture and education. It aims to increase the exchange of knowledge and experience between professionals in the jazz sector and to encourage the development of international exchanges, special projects, and collaborations between producers and artists both within and outside Europe.

Testimonial
"The EJN provides an exemplary model of the power of creative networks, of the commitment of organisations and individuals to work creatively to address common problems and jazz’s ability to stimulate conversations and encourage innovation in everyday life."

CREATIVE EUROPE - NETWORKS
ECA-EC
European Choral Association - Europa Cantat

WHO WE ARE
ECA-EC is a network of organisations, choirs and individuals in the field of collective singing in Europe. Through its membership, it directly represents more than 2.5 million singers, conductors, composers and managers in over 40 European countries and reaches out to more than 37 million people in continental Europe who are active in the field of collective singing.

The European Choral Association - Europa Cantat is the result of a merger between two European choral associations in 2011.

Since 1955, the association’s aims have been to foster cooperation and mutual understanding between cultures, nations and individuals across social and political borders, to promote collective singing as a tool for education and community building, and to represent the interests of the singing community.

OUR 2017-2021 CREATIVE EUROPE PROJECTS
The project “Upgrade – Connect – Reach out: Raising Awareness for Collective Singing in Europe” was built on the 2014-2017 strategy with the following 5 strategic objectives: strengthen the network and its membership, connecting to other players in the field of collective singing as well as reaching out to people who do not sing (yet) and promoting the value of European cooperation.

Developed in cooperation with members, the project aims at strengthening the network and its membership, connecting to other players in the field of collective singing as well as reaching out to people who do not sing (yet) and promoting the value of European cooperation.

Concretely the association will offer capacity building, develop new (digital) tools, support the internationalisation of activities, involve more (professional) individuals, increase cooperation within and outside the sector and enlarge the geographical scope of the network. The project will also include a campaign on the benefits of singing based on research.

Testimonial
“(collective singing) has a strong power, it creates nearness and confidence. People are often separated and live in competition with each other. Therefore it is extremely important to sing in a group.”

ECSA
European Composer and Songwriter Alliance

WHO WE ARE
The ECSA is a network of songwriters and composers in Europe who speak on behalf of creators of art and classical, popular and audio-visual music. The network’s core mission is to defend and promote the rights of music creators with the objective of improving their social and economic conditions.

ECSA also acts as the ‘creators’ voice’ in the music industry in the context of EU copyright reform, and promotes legislation for fairer pay and a more sustainable music ecosystem. The network works closely with like-minded organisations and has established partnerships with music creator groups in North-America, Africa, Asia and South America. With public events such as the Creators Conference and the European Film Music Days in Cannes, the network addresses specific concerns in the music sector and highlights new trends in music business such as the rise of music created for video games and opportunities for composers.

OUR 2017-2021 CREATIVE EUROPE PROJECTS
The network’s activities range from promoting specific genres of music for the purpose of increasing cultural diversity and the transnational mobility of artists, to activities aimed at empowering creators in the digital world.

The European Contemporary Composers Orchestra, for instance, is dedicated to performing and promoting contemporary art music and reaching new audiences. It operates as a network of active ensembles, orchestras and young professionals, supporting a creative dialogue between composers and performers.

The Capacity Triangle consists of workshops and seminars specifically tailored to the needs of creators such as strengthening their entrepreneurial and digital capacities. The network believes that new business models can empower creators and is working on a new music and lyrics distribution platform – composersdirectory.eu – which will allow songwriters and composers to disseminate their work whilst also ensuring fair pay.

REMA
Réseau Européen de Musique Ancienne - European Early Music Network

WHO WE ARE
REMA is the only representative network for early music in Europe. Its main aim is to act as a network for its member and to encourage the exchange of knowledge, information and co-operation in the field of early music. The network was created in Ambronay in 2000 and represents 86 active organisations across 20 European countries, which each aim to promote and raise the profile of early music.

REMA
European Early Music Network

EMC
European Music Council

OUR 2017-2021 CREATIVE EUROPE PROJECTS
REMA is engaged in the rediscovery and promotion of European musical heritage through the dissemination of ideas and research. The network intends to support the artistic development of member organisations and the early music sector throughout Europe in general, taking the geographical diversity of the field as a major asset. This support will facilitate the highest musical and artistic quality. REMA aims to shape the future of early music by stimulating cooperation between the various stakeholders and thereby help them to join voices. In order to reach these goals, REMA is promoting conferences for its members, the European Day of Early Music, the Early Music Award, a showcase for young artists, an online early music radio station and the European Early Music Summit in 2020.

OUR 2017-2021 CREATIVE EUROPE PROJECTS
The EMC connects music organisations from various European countries and backgrounds with each other through its diverse communication tools (printed publications, newsletters, social media, websites). The organisation also opens up to music networks and stakeholders which are not part of the EMC membership through its initiative the European Agenda for Music.

WHO WE ARE

JMI

Jeunesse Musicales International

WHO WE ARE

The JMI is a global network of NGOs that provides opportunities for young people and children to develop through music across all boundaries. The network works for and with youth, harnessing the power of music to bridge social, geographical styles and cultural divides and on creating an international platform for intercultural dialogue and acceptance.

The network was founded in Brussels in 1945 as an international NGO in order to bring young people together to overcome divisions created by the two World Wars. Today, the JMI has 63 members in over 50 countries worldwide with 38,000 local activities outreaching to over 7 million young people.

Testimonial

"I really enjoyed my time at Ethno, it was an extremely valuable experience that we’ll all remember for the rest of our lives. It let us discover not only the cultures and individualities of other musicians, but also something within ourselves. And every individual affected by open spirit and good values will eventually affect many others."

Live DMA

European Network for Music Venues and Festivals

OUR 2017-2021 CREATIVE EUROPE PROJECTS

The JMI aims to become an open, competitive and sustainable network based on learning with a platform that engages local organisations and with networks and operators that are actively contributing to the socio-economic and cultural development of society.

The JMI will focus on four long-term global objectives:

- Connect - expand geographically and horizontally;
- Empower - an open source platform for meeting, exchanging and learning;
- Awake - making people aware of the organisation’s assets and the unique power of music;
- Sustain - providing new evidence based business models of engaging new programs, new funding and new partnerships across sectors.

The network’s activities will include membership study visits, training and learning events, workshops and conferences, a staff exchange program, digital tools, awareness raising campaigns, monitoring and evaluation. Crosscutting issues will include: young audience development, migrant integration, cultural heritage and gender equality.

WHO WE ARE

Live DMA is a European non-governmental network working to support and promote the conditions of the live music sector. Live DMA is by nature an international collaboration network based on shared visions and values. Since its foundation the exchange of best practices and experiences has been the pivot of the network’s existence. Music venues and festivals are one of the main providers for talent development in Europe.

The network strives to structure the live music sector and to enhance the visibility of music venues all over Europe.

In order to achieve its goals, Live DMA focuses on collaborative actions such as peer-to-peer learning, exchanges at the European level between its members and partners and on producing a communication strategy.

The 6 activities of the LSE include: building a resource platform about regulation and best practises, holding a seminar on methodology to help music venue associations across Europe, organising thematic working groups for members, data collection (The Survey), an Inde venues campaign and holding one event: the Open Club Day.

Testimonial

“Live DMA is a fantastic place to share and gain knowledge, exchange ideas and get inspiration from fellow European colleagues. We have common challenges that we together are in a better position to solve.”

The European Dancehouse Network (EDN) is a network for trust and collaboration between European dancehouses, sharing a common vision for the development of dance art across borders. Dancehouses have facilities for dance production, research, and presentation, support for professional choreographers and dancers, and a public mandate for independent artistic management. Parallely to their annual programmes, dancehouses organise activities for learning and participation and regularly engage with dance and related issues at a local and international level.

All members of the European Dancehouse Network collaborate to promote the idea of a diverse Europe, strengthen the relevance of dance and secure a sustainable future for the dance sector.

Our 2017-2021 Creative Europe Projects
The EDN will develop a model of support involving three priority strands: strengthening professional practice, enhancing public engagement and progressing the network.

Carte Blanche will be a mechanism for dancehouse staff to visit other partners in Europe on a come-and-see basis, around 20 ateliers will help provide a deeper practical and theoretical knowledge of relevant themes, one forum a year will explore different ways of organising dialogue between members, artists, audiences and external experts and the EDN will investigate long-term collaborations in North America, Asia-Pacific, and Balkan countries.

During the period 2017-2021, the EDN will encourage the creative entrepreneurship of independent dance makers by adding to the know-how on artistic working strategies and methodologies to confront cultural, political and economic challenges, sharing data and information to develop new interest groups and by advocating for dance at the highest political levels.

Testimonial

“The idea of developing a dancehouse is not only about infrastructure, a building. It is necessary for the change of dance as a unique art form - respectful and supportive for many different ways of approaching it.”

Circostrada
European Network for Circus Arts and Street Arts

Who We Are
Since its creation in 2003, Circostrada has been working to support and structure the fields of circus and street arts in Europe and beyond. With more than 100 members from over 30 countries, the network is helping to build a sustainable future for these sectors by empowering cultural players through research, professional exchanges, advocacy, capacity building and information.

Going forward, Circostrada aims to provide a dynamic and collaborative network for professionals and stakeholders to meet, share good practices, set up projects, and reflect on the development of circus and street arts at a global level. The network’s mission is to provide and disseminate key resources to better document and inform on the structure for sustainable projects, enable widespread behavioural change, and strengthen relations between key players in the two fields.

Testimonial

“An art form that crosses cultures, communities, languages, social barriers, economic backgrounds - everyone can appreciate circus no matter what your background or social influences are or your country of origin. It’s irrelevant with circus. Circus is borderless.”

Lucy Medlycott, ISACS, during FRESH CIRCUS#3

Our 2017-2021 Creative Europe Projects
Through its new programme of activities, Circostrada aims to provide the structure for sustainable projects, enable widespread behavioural change, and strengthen relations between key players in the two fields.

The network is therefore working towards facilitating information exchange, peer learning, skills building, disseminating resources, and making tools accessible to all. It is focused on promoting intercultural dialogue, launching joint initiatives with other networks, designing innovative solutions as well as gathering intelligence to align common actions in these sectors.

Circostrada will implement the following activities: meetings with colleagues in the Mediterranean region, plenary sessions and tailored exchanges, workshops for members and key stakeholders, research trips to Asia, Africa and South America, FRESH events in connection with public policy maker’s seminars, LABs to experiment and try out new ideas, manifold digital resources and publications, a new CIRCOSTRADATA portal and several networking activities.

OUR 2017-2021 CREATIVE EUROPE PROJECTS
“ENGAGE” is the ETC's ground-breaking four-year project to champion, foster and develop theatre suitable for a fast-changing world and shifting audience needs. This includes both how one can create stories in the digital age for live performing arts in Europe and beyond, how one can empower artists and creative professionals, audiences and communities and, finally, empower theatres and the wider creative sector.

The five pillars of the ENGAGE programme are: critical thinking through theatre; participatory theatre; theatre in the digital age; a professional development programme for theatre-makers and empowering the ETC network for growth and sustainability.

ENGAGE features a number of diverse activities including “On Stage 2018 – a European festival of the performing arts” as part of the 2018 European Year of Cultural Heritage, the “Our Stage Festival” of participatory theatre in 2019, the “Young Europe III” documentary-based theatre festival in 2020, a new artists’ residency for theatre directors and the development of a central database for theatre professionals.

FEST
Federation for European Storytelling

WHO WE ARE
The Federation for European Storytelling (FEST) is a European network of organisations and associations active in the field of storytelling. Storytelling is an ancient art, a primeval art, the basis of all communication, imagination and creativity. Everyone has a story to tell. FEST wants to enhance the visibility and the recognition of storytelling as a performing art. The network contributes to a European approach to the professional development of storytellers and the use of storytelling techniques in different sectors of society: community work, work with immigrants and refugees, the socio-cultural sector, education and heritage.

The network also works to encourage more European storytelling events and to foster transnational cooperation in this sector.

GENERAL INFORMATION
Field: Storytelling as a performing art
Date of creation: 2012
No. and type of members: 54
54 member organisations in 20 countries: Professional storytelling associations, festival organisers, storytelling training centres.

OUR 2017-2021 CREATIVE EUROPE PROJECTS
FEST promotes and supports local storytelling initiatives such as festivals, training sessions, workshops, conferences and performances organised by its members across Europe. Through these, FEST adds a European dimension to these events, offers international mobility to artists and helps to share and spread expertise. So far the network has supported 31 initiatives in 10 different countries.

In the coming years, special attention will go to initiatives and activities promoting storytelling as an intangible oral heritage (stories, local legends etc.) and as a tool for the inheritance of heritage, in a narrative approach to interpreting heritage. FEST will also support co-creative initiatives with other performing arts like music, visual art and digital art, and will engage in existing European initiatives such as European Cultural Capitals.

The network will also engage in sharing European good practices for training, in curriculum development and in making links with formal education.
IETM
International network for contemporary performing arts

OUR 2017-2021 CREATIVE EUROPE PROJECT

The project “Performing Arts in (a world in) Transition II (PAT III)” will include activities to reinforce the sector’s capacity to face today’s challenges. The project aims at facilitating the mobility of artists and art works, cross-border collaborations and knowledge exchange both in and outside Europe.

The project will include an inclusion strategy to support the sector’s efforts to diversify organisations and audiences as well as support social integration. The network’s meetings are the portal to international collaboration and provide capacity building, intercultural dialogue and exposure to best practices and artistic creations.

A special part of the project will be dedicated to strengthening the professional capacities of the sector: IETM Campus and the staff exchange programme. PAT II will include the development of several toolkits, mappings and a series of publications on how art is engaged in important projects of today.

WHO WE ARE

The International Network for Contemporary Performing Arts (IETM) is a network with over 500 performing arts organisations and individual members working in the contemporary performing arts worldwide. IETM advocates for the value of the arts and culture in a changing world and empowers performing arts professionals through access to international connections, knowledge and a dynamic forum for exchange.

ERIH
European Route of Industrial Heritage

OUR 2017–2021 CREATIVE EUROPE PROJECTS

Europa Nostra’s new network project “Sharing Heritage – Sharing Values” will use the momentum of the 2018 European Year of Cultural Heritage to demonstrate to an even wider audience that cultural heritage counts for Europe. The project aims to promote the inclusive and cohesive concept of “sharing heritage” as a vital tool to stimulate citizens to re-engage with the European project on the basis of shared values.

The project will focus on 5 specific areas: civil society in action, south east Europe, funding for heritage, heritage in a global perspective and heritage and the arts. Europa Nostra’s 4-year action plan comprises 7 interrelated key activities including an annual European Heritage Congress, the coordination of the European Heritage Alliance 3.3, providing networking platforms for heritage organisations and foundations, campaigning through the 7 Most Endangered programme and organising various capacity building and communication activities.

WHO WE ARE
Future for Religious Heritage (FRH) is the only European network bringing people and organisations together that wish to save, protect and promote Europe's religious heritage. The network is a not-for-profit association, non-religious and is open to all organisations. The FRH provides a Europe-wide platform for cooperation, exchange of ideas and knowledge. Since its founding, it has played an important role in raising awareness, advocacy work and strengthening the religious heritage sector both on a European and global level. In the past 5 years the FRH has contributed to the professionalisation and sustainability of religious heritage and related sectors by gathering data on needs and knowledge gaps, collecting best practices, providing opportunities for knowledge sharing and the development of toolkits.

FRH
Future for Religious Heritage

OUR 2017-2021 CREATIVE EUROPE PROJECTS
The FRH aims to promote Europe's religious heritage and to create awareness about the significant threats it currently faces. Through the development of online tools (new website), 2 bi-annual conferences and meetings with members across Europe, the network will offer an international exchange platform for grass-roots actors.

Inspired by the Olympic Flame in Athens, the network will launch the "Torch Initiative", a metaphor for a “European treasure box full of personal stories” travelling through Europe during the 2018 European Year of Cultural Heritage.

In 2019, the network will participate in the conference “Heritage and interreligious dialogue: usable pasts for religiously plural Europe” in Groningen, Netherlands. It will also seek to engage visitors through Religiana, a web-app providing cultural and touristic information. The network will, in addition, work on the extension to other European countries of the successful French initiative ‘Le Plus Grand Musée de France’, linking university students and religious heritage experts.

NEMO
Network of European Museum Organisations

WHO WE ARE
The Network of European Museum Organisations (NEMO) – is a network of national museum organisations and similar bodies representing the museum community of the member states of the Council of Europe. NEMO’s members speak for over 30,000 museums across Europe.

The network ensures museums are an integral part of European life by promoting their work and value to policy makers, by providing museums with information and through networking opportunities for co-operation.

NEMO puts forward the cause of museums by advocating at the EU level to work in museums for one day in order to learn about the different activities that take place in a museum. In addition, the network will publish “The NL Factor - why Dutch museums are successful in their learning initiatives” and “Quality work in European museums: research into the award schemes of museum prizes in Europe and guidelines on how to apply for them successfully”.

OUR 2017-2021 CREATIVE EUROPE PROJECTS

The aim of the 4-year project ‘Arts Takes Part’ is to encourage national and regional associations, including local networks from the participatory arts sector, to operate transnationally and at a European level.

This project will include training and courses and the creation of a platform to share multilateral pilot work and exchange knowledge. The launch of the annual AMATEO award is also intended to raise the profile of the participatory arts and show the significant impact creative participation has on people’s lives.

In March 2018, a 4-day workshop called Connect will take place in the Netherlands for creative young people and organisations working in the field of performing arts with the aim of establishing a link with young people that are hard to reach.

In year 2 the focus will be on reaching out to marginalised social groups such as the elderly, ethnic minorities and migrants.

Throughout this period, AMATEO will carry out and publish research on the amateur arts as well as create e-learning courses and materials such as videos for new members, with the aim of holding an amateur arts week.

OUR 2017-2021 CREATIVE EUROPE PROJECTS

The future of Europe and our societies is being created now. Culture can positively contribute to its success. Culture Action Europe initiates number of activities that include cross-sectoral conferences and workshops, online debates and offline high-level panels. CAE explores, aggregates and disseminates cross-sectoral knowledge, building the capacity of cultural operators and advocating for a better cultural policy for EU citizens and the cultural sector. We foster cross-sectoral exchange amongst cultural networks and operators at a European level to encourage transnational cooperation. The organisation advocates for the value and values of culture for society, institutions and organisations in and beyond the cultural sector. On a local level, CAE encourages cities to develop inclusive and sustainable cultural policies and helps to foster closer collaboration between local authorities and cultural stakeholders.

EFA
European Festivals Associations

Who We Are
EFA is a membership community of and for art festivals set up by festival makers to enhance international contacts, collaborate and undertake training and peer-to-peer knowledge exchange throughout the year.

EFA’s main role is to connect festival makers in order to inform, inspire and enrich the festival landscape. It wants to bring to life a multidisciplinary, cross-sectorial community through ongoing activities like the Festival Knowledge Center, the Festival Places Portraits videos and the EFA Festival in Focus interviews. The Culture Commissioner Round Table will take place in February 2018 and the annual Arts Festivals Summit will take place from the 13th to the 14th of April 2018 in Ljubljana.

Events specifically targeted at young professionals will include the Ateliers for Young Festival Managers and Production Managers and workshops on European legislation with Pearle. To encourage cooperation in the community, EFA will work with the Future Heritage Ambassadors, the In Situ Insight delegations to festivals and the Arts Festivals Council. The focus will go from the human capital at the center of festivals, their connection with audiences and places and culminates with connecting festivals with artists to build dialogue, empowerment and empathy. It’s on the basis of long term engagement that the EFA will have a long term impact on society.

Our 2017-2021 Creative Europe Projects
The project “RISE 2” aims to build an engaged, cross-generational, multidisciplinary, cross-sectorial community through ongoing activities like the Festival Knowledge Center, the Festival Places Portraits videos and the EFA Festival in Focus interviews. CREATIVE EUROPE - NETWORKS

EUNIC
EU National Institutes for Culture

Who We Are
EUNIC is the network of European national institutes of culture and national bodies engaged in cultural and related activities beyond their national borders. The network brings together organisations from all EU member states and adds value through its network of clusters – a collaboration of platforms in over 100 countries around the world. It also promotes cultural diversity and cultural dialogue and advocates for a stronger role for culture in public policies and in external relations both at a European and international level. By pooling together the resources and expertise of its members and carrying out joint work on common areas of interest, the network participates in the development and implementation of European cultural policy, particularly the delivery of the new strategic approach to EU international cultural relations.

The network delivers collaborative transnational projects connecting culture and society in the fields of arts, languages, youth, education, science, society, intercultural dialogue and development.

ENCC
European Network
of Cultural Centres

WHO WE ARE
The ENCC represents a large range of local cultural centres in rural, urban and metropolitan areas. It supports networking between cultural centres on all levels and contributes to building bridges between cultural workers. All members believe that arts and culture contribute to civic engagement and to both individual and collective development in society. The network currently represents over 3,000 cultural centres with more than 15,000 employees, thousands of volunteers and 40 million visitors per year in at least 15 countries.

OUR 2017-2021 CREATIVE EUROPE PROJECTS
The ENCC believes that the cultural and creative sector has a key role to play in fostering an open, diverse, democratic and innovative Europe. The network is central to this work at a micro level in Europe and beyond.

The network’s objectives are to support, empower and professionalise workers in cultural centres, to foster cooperation and innovation in the European cultural and socio-cultural sectors, to collect and evaluate relevant data with a focus on mobility and participation, and to increase the diversity and visibility of the network.

The ENCC’s flagship programmes are centred on capacity building and innovation (BECC mobility programme, Travelling Academy peer-to-peer training and Incubator – innovation), interconnected with new partners (Working Groups on Rural Areas and Regional development with ECOCS and Social Inclusion, Antennas and cooperation with other European Networks), and advocating for the role of cultural centres in a democratic and sustainably developed Europe (Shortcut Europe conferences).

CREATIVE EUROPE - NETWORKS

ENCATC
The European network
on cultural management and policy

WHO WE ARE
ENCATC is the only European network on cultural management and policy. Founded in 1992, it now has more than 100 members in over 40 countries and represents all disciplines in arts and culture.

The network is an official UNESCO partner NGO, has the status of an observer of the Council of Europe and the role of an observer in the European Commission. It is a member of the PAN network (Pan-European Network of Academies of the Social Sciences), and the EU Inter- governmental Reflection Group “EU and Cultural Heritage”.

ENCATCs mission is to stimulate the development of cultural management and cultural policy education by engaging and responding to new developments in politics, economics, societies and technology.

The network plays a crucial role in ensuring the sustainability and competitive strength of the cultural and creative sectors. Its members are directly responsible for the education of managers and operators, and European citizens who will benefit from culture at the European, national and local levels.

OUR 2017-2021 CREATIVE EUROPE PROJECTS
The network is working on the development of new ideas and capacity building opportunities at the intersection of culture and education, and internationalisation and education. It is also working on the promotion and fostering of European humanistic values. Its programme is built around annual key annual ENCATC events such as the Congress on Cultural Management and Policy, the International Study Tour, the Academy on Culture in External Relations, the Policy Debate, the Capacity Building Days and Youth in Action Day. The network will also organise additional intensive learning and networking events such as the ENCATC Breakfasts for professional development and the ENCATC Cultural Happy Hours.

Testimonial
"ENCATC offers strong support for activities involving our educators, researchers and managerial staff in debates, interactions, professional developments and activities of the network. It helps to explore European practices and compare different approaches in cultural management training and learning.”

EUROZINE
Network of European Cultural Journals

WHO WE ARE
Eurozine is a not-for-profit organisation located in Vienna, Austria. The organisation brings together European cultural journals linking 79 partner journals and 13 associated publications and institutions in 35 countries. The network facilitates communication and exchange of knowledge between its partners. In 1998, the organisation was formally established and the online magazine Eurozine www.eurozine.com was launched. The online magazine publishes outstanding articles from partner journals with some translations into the main European languages thus offering a Europe-wide overview of themes and discussions for international readership. The Eurozine office is responsible for maintaining the network and editing the online magazine. It is supported by its Editorial Board as well as an Advisory Board.

Testimonial
"Eurozine provides the single most important clearing house of ideas in digital Europe. The Eurozine format allows for discussions between European journals and readers, without the blurring and delaying mediation of other media. Its staff does an outstanding job of holding the network together and assembling and translating articles.”

IMZ
International Music and Media Centre

WHO WE ARE
The International Music and Media Centre (IMZ) is dedicated to the preservation and promotion of the performing arts through audiovisual media. Founded under the aegis of UNESCO in 1961 it has since established the largest business network for the performing arts film and cultural TV content industry worldwide. The network connects more than 150 member organisations active at the intersection of performing arts and media. Members include major European and international players like BBC, ARTE, ZDF, NHK, United C Major, EuroArts, Metropolitan Opera New York, the Vienna State Opera, Berlin Phil or the London Symphony Orchestra.

Testimonial
"Linking the world’s stages with audiovisual media does not only preserve performing arts and provide broad access to cultural content for everyone, the resulting music and dance films also constitute a distinct art form. It is hence our crucial mission to ensure the viability of this specialised sector.”

OUR 2017-2021 CREATIVE EUROPE PROJECTS
Eurozine will intensify and develop its activities to strengthen European cultural journals. This will include the publishing of articles and translations online to further internationalise the journals’ audiences and their work as well as have the network’s editors collaborate in participative publishing formats.

Eurozine’s webinars, workshops and specialised newsletters will create a community of practice within which cultural editors can share expertise on economic, editorial and technological issues such as audience development. The programme activities will also include the introduction of advocacy measures and pioneering scientific research on the sector of cultural journals in Europe.

The Eurozine office is responsible for maintaining the network and editing the online magazine. It is supported by its Editorial Board as well as an Advisory Board.

TEH
TRANS Europe Halles

WHO WE ARE
Trans Europe Halles is a European network of cultural centres initiated by citizens and artists. The network has been at the forefront of repurposing Europe’s industrial buildings for arts, culture and activism since 1983. TEH’s mission is to strengthen the sustainable development of non-governmental cultural centres and to connect, support and promote new initiatives. The network’s vision is to connect all those engaged in transforming spaces into cultural centres for the benefit of their communities.

OUR 2017–2021 CREATIVE EUROPE PROJECTS
Through the project “Factories of Imagination: Investing in Cultural Change Makers”, TEH is addressing the lack of means for professional development and international peer-to-peer learning between non-governmental cultural centres. To achieve this, TEH will start by mapping out cultural centres initiated by civil society around Europe in order to identify and connect the different actors in this fragmented sector. TEH will then organise 8 meetings to offer training courses on Business Models and Organisational Development, support 14 emergent cultural centres and launch a cultural leadership programme to help bring together aspiring leaders around Europe. TEH will also focus more on promoting and facilitating international cooperation throughout the project. Four rounds of staff exchange programmes are planned to increase mobility between TEH members. Project labs and thematic hubs established during meetings will help stimulate collaboration within the network, thus enabling cultural players to internationalise their careers and activities.

Creative Europe: Who’s who?

The European Commission’s Directorate General for Education, Youth, Sport and Culture (DG EAC) defines the overall policy framework and the annual work programme of Creative Europe, and directly manages some of its flagship initiatives such as the European Capitals of Culture and the European Prizes.

For more information: https://ec.europa.eu/programmes/creative-europe

The Education, Audiovisual and Culture Executive Agency (EACEA) is responsible for the management of the main funding mechanisms of the Creative Europe culture programme: support to Cooperation Projects, European Networks, European Platforms and Literary Translation.

For more information: https://eacea.ec.europa.eu

The Creative Europe Desks are the gateway to the EU Creative Europe Programme. They are established in all the participating countries: the EU member states, Iceland, and Norway, as well as some of the EU’s neighbouring countries. They provide free information and guidance on how to access funding opportunities under the Creative Europe Programme, regular updates on audiovisual and culture-related issues at European level, and networking support and partner-finding.
